According to Codex, a food hazard is any biological, chemical or physical agent present in food as well as food condition that may cause any adverse effect on health. At present, there are no wooden elements or tools within our premises. Since we are aware of the threat it may cause, its use is forbidden.

Once the products are finished, they are packed on plastic pallets that comply with proper hygiene conditions. Raw material and supplies are received in plastic pallets and are stored on washable and wood-free shelves.
